Conrad qualified with CIMA at the Financial Times, then moved to Asia and the Near East, where he pioneered BPO and overseas sourcing, becoming a Managing Director, returning to the UK, and co-founding one of the early search and digital marketing agencies as an investor and CEO.

More recently a co-founder and Director of The Marketing Group Plc, a NASDAQ First North listed entity. One of the fastest growing, acquisitive, technology-led Marketing Groups in the history of that market. His global career has established effective networks with a successful leadership, acquisition, and deal-making track record.

- Entrepreneurial leader, deal maker and value creator.
- Assists entrepreneurs and SME recruitment professionals to achieve their ambitions and a pre-planned route to medium and long term value creation for themselves and investors.
