Darren has worked with RGH since the company was established, initially as Managing Partner, and was rapidly promoted to UK Chief Commercial Officer due to his wealth of knowledge and experience within the industry.

He has worked with a diverse range of organisations, from online software platforms to consultancies, business services, and start-ups. His client base includes some notable names, and his reputation and aptitude ensures client retention and makes business development effortless.

As much as everyone would think Darren is a workaholic, he thoroughly enjoys time with his family, and outside of the home, you'll be sure to find him at a friendly local with a refreshing pint!
